

Mommin' in the Real World

SARAH EMERSON

Sarah is the mom of two young children. Born and raised in rural Kansas, she adores travel and has visited 20 different countries so far.

During the day she masquerades as a professional in physician clinic administration, while at night Sarah fulfills her life-long dream job of being a writer. She has always been a creative soul with an overactive imagination, scribbling notes for a story or drawing on scraps of paper.

Sarah is a self-described sci-fi and fantasy nerd and fan of all things Star Trek, Star Wars, Doctor Who, Wonder Woman, and more.

Her love of coffee and chocolate is only rivaled by her love of books.

When not writing, painting, or busy with family she can often be found daydreaming of living in southern France in a home near the seashore.
